

An Invitation: History in the Making

Austin, Texas 8-9-18:

You have received this invitation to witness a quantum leap technological event. This contribution to mankind will usher in a global revolution of thinking and innovation. The accumulation of disruptive inventions over the last 150 years “NOW” reconfigured to build a 3.0 engine destined to replace all I.C. engines, jet engines, pumps, compressors, expanders, etc. You can imagine why we can’t keep quiet any longer! “For such a time as this”, Angel Labs LLC is breathing “New Life” into the internal combustion engine.

Some of the expected attendees are Allied DoD’s who have sought this technology for almost 2 decades and have maintained close ties to the inventor. Ship owners, power grid companies, alternative energy companies, and a host of interested business owners will have front row seats to this historic occasion.

So much “POWER” in such a small package! In a “Disruptive” world, littered with complexities and unknowns, one perfectly crafted engine will send shock waves across the globe. Please consider getting involved before the ship sets sail. This event will happen before our media blitz and direct listing on NYSE.

Funds received from early accredited investors who satisfy our compliance regulations will be privy to tremendous perks(subject to investment amount and strength of business operations/experience). Please visit www.angellabsllc.com for details and contact information.
